utes add about twenty more lumps of coal. As soon as the wood has burned out, fill the cavity half to two thirds full of coal. The fire will be a good one .-The coal will, by these directions, become thoroughly ignited.

2d. Never fill a stove more than half or two-thirds full of coal, even in the coldest weather.

3d. When the fire is low, never shake the grate or disturb the ashes; but add from ten to fitteen small lumps of coal and set the draft open. When these are heated through, and somewhat ignited, add the amount necessary for new fire, but do not disturb the ashes yet. Let the draft be open half an hour. Now shake out the ashes. The coul will be thoroughly ignited and will keep the stove in a high heat from six to twelve hours according to the coldness of the

The Best Bed.

A FEATHER bed is ruinjous to health. A mattress is better, but in the course of a generation or two, either will become considerably loaded with the emenations from the bodiss of those who sleep on them. When we consider the immense amount of animal refuse which is constantly escaping from the pores of the skin, the conviction is forced upon us, that what we sleep on needs purification once in a while, just as the clothes we wear have need to be taken to the wash tub. A straw bed is better than a mat- In Malone's Building, on Main Stre trees for we can throw the straw away when it becomes unclean, and the expense is not heavy. But, bice and clean as a straw bed is, it has a froublesome rattle, while it is new, which to some persons, is suggestive of ghosts or midnight robbers. A light elastic plank, is very pleasant, if supported at the ende, and covered with a blanket. Sleeping on the floor is pleasanter than it seems, and there is an danger of breaking one's bones by tumbling out of bed. Blany of our soldiers have found steping in snowdrifts or mud puddles, to agree with them; pure atmosphere, is a more wholesome sleeping accommodation than the most luxorious bed in an unventilated cham-

But of all beds ever invented, the best, most wholesome, and parhaps the chespest is the hammock. You need no bedstead, no mattress, no cumbrous trapping of any kind. You can lie at perfect ease in it, all the "making of the bed" that is necessary, being to hang it up, and to put a basket or sheet into it as you may prefer. It should be well bung on two stout wrought from hooks, which are securely fastened into the wall on the opposite sides of the room. If you want to rock yourself as you rock your baby in the cradle, you can do it with no trouble at all. There is none of that feeling of about a feather bed, for the whole concern is open like a shed net. There is no fear of vermin taking up their lodg ing in it, for every shred of it is exposed to view, and there is no room for creatures to" hide. There is no difficulty about cleaning it, for you can dip it into a bucket of scalding water. Nor is there any frouble in moving it, for when It is rolled up and tied, the bundle is no lar ger than your hat.

Anybody who will try a bammock for a few nights will wonder that they ever could enjoy the ponderous old thing known as bed and bedstead, - Selected.

Farmer's Wives.

HUSBANDS, be mindful of your wives. Dutiful wives need watching as much as any. Not because they are liable to all sorts of improprieties which characterize miserable or indifferent wives, but be- THE WHITE MAN'S PAPER. cause they have frequently one fault, which works their ruin. They are lia without knowing it, many work them-selves to death. Perhaps your farms is mortgaged; your wife is quite as anxious selves to death. PROSPECTUS CRISIS, For 1867.

THE Seventh Volume and the Seventh Year of the publication of The Cates is about to begin, and, in accordance with custom we same our Annual Prospectus. We need not recapitulate its history during the stormy years of its existence, nor remind those who have read it, of its services is beball of the great principles of the Democra-cy, and what its conductors conceived, and what time has shown, to be the best interests of the country. Its merits have been ac-knowledged from the time it was started by knowledged from the time it was started by that veteran and distinguished journalist, Gov. Medari, and its present conductors simply claim for it the credit of an earnest and undeviating adherence to the plan and principles of its founder. In all the political vicissitudes of the past six years—the failure of some, the apoetacy of others, and the unguarded weakness of many, exponents of Democracy, The Chima has never deniated from the straight path of principle, nor ben allured by temporary expedients, intimidated by threats, nor disheartened by defeat and disaster.

On the course of principla we claim for it the merit of fidelity, honesty, and consistency. As a newspaper we claim for it the merit of being an exponent of Western interests and ideas, a reliable journal of the times, a valuable companion of the farmer, the mechanic, the business man, and the the mechanic, the business man, and the family circle. It is our aim to all the large abre, with matter of real interest and per-abre, with matter of real interest and per-manent value—to discuss questions of prin-ciple that are of real significance, to inform, improve, and instruct, as well as amuse— and to this end we discard the idle twaddle which goes so far to fill up the daily papers, the obscene advertisements and the sensa-tional folls of the day. the obscene advertisements and the sensa-tional folly of the day. We could publish hundreds of letters from the best men of the country approving of the course of Tax Caisis in this respect, and to this course we propose to rigidly adhere. The reliable market reports and the great amount of statistical, agricultural, financial, and po-litical information we publish, is of im-portance and value to business men, farm-ara mechanics and politicians; while the portance and vatue to business men, farmers, mechanics, and politicians; while the carefully selected page of literary miscellany which each number contains, commends it to the home circle of all.

The political views of The Causes coarcely require definition. It is in favor of Democratic principles in all their breadth and markly as accounted by Tracks. purity, as expounded by Thomas JEFFERSON, and the other really great men and founders of the Government, and upon which the Government was successfully conducted for seventy years. It is opposed to the Abolition despotism which now controls the Federal Government, in all its shapes and upder whatever device it may appear. It is opposed to the entire Abolition theory of politics, and all the monstrosities, humbugs, and delusions which graw out of it. It is opposed to the thieving asscality, the tyraunical assumptions, the stupid and bar-barous policies and the lawiess usurpations of Congress, and to all the machinery that the Jacobins have devised and put in opera-tion to everthrow Republican Government, Inaugurate anarchy and absolutism, enslave the people, and oppress them with odious taxes, and tyrannical, insane, and corrupt legislation. And in advocating the correct principles and opposing the evils we have named, we shall continue to do it without fear or favor.

In order to successfully conduct such a paper as Tur Carsis, it must have a large list of subscribes; and to secure that we rely upon our friends and those who have rely upon our triends and those and have taken the paper. We cannot compete with the cheap, shoddy publications of the East by offering bogus premiums or employing traveling agents; but we carnestly solicit the aid of our readers in extending our circulation by their personal efforts. It will require but little exertion from each, but
